Experts

Jen,
Assistant Manager,
North Haven

Q: I'M JUST GETTING STARTED IN BIRD FEEDING, BUT HAVEN'T HAD MUCH SUCCESS ATTRACTING WINTER BIRDS. CAN YOU HELP?

A: Birds will feed where they know the selection is good and plentiful. At the more popular New England feeders, you'll usually find black oil sunflower seed, peanuts, suet, nyjer, and/or mealworms. Feeders with wide covers over perches and trays will also be favored. Birds don't want to shovel out after a snow storm, and they look for ways to shelter from predators. And don't forget: birds need a clean place to eat. Discard soggy seed, clean out mold or mildew, and wipe down perches, poles and other landing spots.
