ATHENA
pet of the month

BIO

Woof! I'm Athena, a 7 month old Siberian Husky. I love to hike and explore all around Michigan. My favorite things to do are long boarding, playing fetch with my Kong, and chasing around all of the farm animals.

LIKES

I live for finding my mom and dad's socks, and chewing them up. I'm super sweet after like a sour patch kid. I also really love bananas!

PET PEEVES

Squirrels, I hate squirrels! Not a huge fan of cats or bunnies either (they're always hanging out in MY yard, how dare they!)

ERASING YOUR PET'S FEAR OF FIREWORKS THIS 4TH OF JULY

BBQ's, grilling, and fireworks - OH MY! While the celebration of our nation is fun for the humans, it can leave your pets cowering in the corner. Below is a quick list of things to consider to ease your fur child's fear of fireworks:

1. Keep Calm.

Your pet can sense your anxiety. Act as you normally would, and try to keep their mind busy with chews, playtime, and fun toys.

2. Keep Em' Company.

If you can, be with your pet during the firework show. Nothing calms your pet down more than having their 'hooman' next to them.

3. Microchip. Fence. ID.

All the noise and commotion can turn your laid back cat into an expert escape artist. Make certain that your pet's are microchipped (incase they do slip their collar), that your fence is secure, and that your contact information is up to date on their ID tag.

4. Pet Sitter.

If you can't be home with your pet on the 4th, you can always ask a pet lover friend, or a boarding facility to watch them.

5. Stop into Soldan's.

From swaddling Thunder Shirts, calming collars, relaxing treats, homeopathic drops, calming sprays, and CBD oil - we've got what you need to help ease your pet's stress over the holiday.
