MABEL
pet of the month

BIO
Hi, I'm Mabel and I'm a two year old lop eared bunny. I was adopted from Soldan's in Bay City in December of 2016. I'm fully litter trained, and mom lets me roam the house as I please.

LIKES
Cheek rubs and head rubs! I've never met a treat I don't like, especially bananas. I've also been known to chew on the occasional phone charging cord.

DISLIKES
Not a fan of loud noises, being outside, the vacuum, or when my hooman tries to touch my feet or tail!

BLOG POST

In honor of our annual wild bird seed sale, I decided to purchase a window feeder for my office window. Within one day of having it up, I had sparrows and robins visiting. There was even one sad squirrel who has been staring at me from the roof. Hopefully he doesn't figure out how to slide down the window to get the sunflower seeds I put in the feeder.

We carry the Audobon 'Mixed Treat Window Feeder' at our stores. It's got three suction cups on it and easily mounts to any glass surface. It has three compartments; one for seed, one for jelly, and an orange holder. The jelly and oranges will attract orioles and hummingbirds when they come back in spring.

If you have a window in your office, or one at home where you can sit and relax-I strongly recommend you get one of these. It's amazing how much joy a $12.99 bird feeder can add to your day.

Happy Birding,

WHY YOUR DOG NEEDS A BED

A dog can be reasonably comfortable sleeping nearly anywhere – on the furniture, in a corner, sprawled on your lap, etc. – so why is a dog bed necessary? The right bed will serve several purposes both for the dog and the dog owner, and it is an important part of canine pet supplies.

WHY YOUR DOG WILL PREFER A BED

Dogs may be able to sleep in a wide variety of places, but a good bed can be much more comfortable. The right size and style of bed will provide your dog...

- WARMTH: Proper bedding will help insulate your dog from a cold floor, especially tile or wood floors. The dog's body heat will also be trapped by the bedding, creating a cozy warm pocket for the dog to snuggle.
- COMFORT: A padded bed is softer and more comfortable than a hard floor to sleep on. This is especially true for older dogs that may suffer from arthritis, or any dog that may have joint stiffness, hip trouble or similar problems.
- SECURITY: The bed will become a dog's safe space, an area they know is theirs and they can retreat to for rest and relaxation. This can be especially important if the dog's bed must be relocated – they will still know the bed is their secure place.

With the right bed, both you and your dog can get a good night's sleep! Fur more information on how to choose the right bed for your dog please visit soldanspet.com/blog
