May 21 — 29, 2019

Dear Tindell's valued customers...

Tindell's is very excited to announce that our 2019 incentive trip will be to Europe. Additionally exciting is that our European vacation will be via a luxury cruise ship, the Norwegian Cruise Lines (NCL) award winning ship, the EPIC. We will spend a glorious week sailing the beautiful Mediterranean coast visiting some of the most popular ports of Italy, Spain and France. Tindell's promises you that our 2019 trip will show you a treasure trove of delightful destinations...each one a lasting memory.

Your accommodations for the week will be in an Oceanview Cabin with a balcony. We guarantee the view from your balcony will be “outstanding” as we arrive and depart each port! The ship itself is an architectural wonder. When not in port, the ship's on-board activity schedule is full of fun programs for everyone of every age. It's up to you whether you go “90 miles an hour” or just relax by one of the many swimming pools or maybe try your luck at the Casino. You won't have to worry about being bored, that's for certain!

Tindell's hopes that you can join us on our 2019 exciting trip to Europe...it is truly going to be very special! Also, please feel free to contact your Tindell's sales representative with any questions that you may have.

2019 Mediterranean Cruise

from Rome, Italy

Itinerary Overview & Ports of Call

Arrive Rome's Civitavecchia International
Airport mid-morning (next day, May 22nd)

Day 2 - Wednesday, May 22

Rome...a unique fusion of ancient, historical sites, masterful artistic wonders, and lively modern life, Italy's capital city is one of the world's crown jewels.

Day 3 - Thursday, May 23

Livorno, Italy (Florence / Pisa)

Livorno – Arriving in Livorno is like waking up Christmas morning to a pile of presents under a tree. This Italian port city offers easy access to Tuscany's most famous destinations... Florence, Pisa and Lucca. Whether you are seeking ancient history, traditional culture or cutting-edge cuisine, this port of call has it all!

Day 4 - Friday, May 24

Cannes, France

Cannes is best known for its annual May film festival, but there are plenty more attractions that make it a favorite Côte d'Azur paradise for the elite. The city is known for its association with the rich and famous, its luxury hotels, cozy bistros and chic restaurants. You too can have a taste of the high life during your visit to Cannes!

Day 5 - Saturday, May 25

Palma de Majorca, Spain

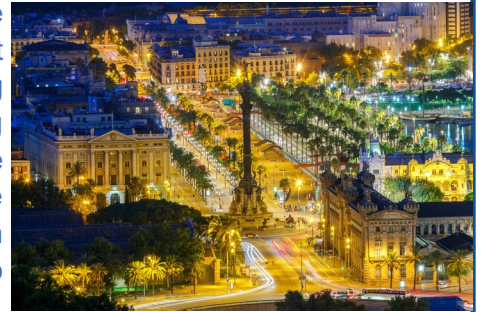

Palma de Mallorca proudly traces its history to the Roman and Byzantine Empires giving it a rich and glorious historical past. Today, the city is a world-famous summer holiday destination of the royals as well as international tourists due to its sunny weather and beautiful beaches. Its cosmopolitan heart embraces many people from Spain and Europe enriched by migrants from South America and Africa. In addition to rich historical attractions such as Le Seu and Banys Àrabs, Palma's busy nightlife and lively art scene also draw a large number of tourists to the city. We love the nightlife!

Day 6 - Sunday, May 26

Barcelona, Spain

Barcelona feels a bit surreal...and appropriately so, since Salvador Dali spent time here and Spanish Catalan architect Antoni Gaudí designed several of the city's buildings. Stepping into Gaudí's Church of the Sacred Family is a bit like falling through the looking glass - a journey that you can continue with a visit to Park Güell. You can sip sangria at a sidewalk café in Las Ramblas while watching flamboyant street performers, then create your own moveable feast by strolling from tapas bar to tapas bar.

Day 7 - Monday, May 27

Cruising

A free day at sea!

Day 8 - Tuesday, May 28

Naples / Pompeii

Naples - A more dramatic history than that of Naples is hard to imagine, from the classical culture to the terrors of the volcano Mt. Vesuvius to the brutality of today's Mafia. The city has been the pleasure-dome of emperors, the jewel in regal crowns and a political football of the unscrupulous. The centuries have left their mark on Naples' architecture and art; although much has been lost, untold riches still remain. The treasures on display in its stunning museums, splendid churches and dignified palazzos are still something to behold.

Day 9 - Wednesday, May 29

Depart Rome to Atlanta
